

Gli autori

Giorgio Astone

Giorgio Astone is an independent post-doc Researcher, working in the field of Political and Social Philosophy. Currently holding a job position as Academic Editor, Astone has published different articles during the last decade: related to Social Acceleration Theory, Accelerationism and biopolitical perspectives on Time in the beginning, to Theory Fiction and contemporary Feminist Theory in the last years.

giorgioastone@gmail.com

Alberto Burgio

Alberto Burgio is Professor of History of Philosophy at the University of Bologna. He has written extensively on philosophical and political thinking from the 18th to the 20th centuries (Rousseau, Hegel, Marx, Antonio Labriola, and Gramsci). He has published numerous papers in international journals and edited collections. His most recent books include Gramsci. Il sistema in movimento (DeriveApprodi, Rome 2014); Per Marx. Il sogno di una cosa (DeriveApprodi, Rome 2018); Critica della ragione razzista (DeriveApprodi, Rome 2020) and Un marxismo «alquanto aristocratico». Studi su Antonio Labriola (DeriveApprodi, Rome 2023). On Adam Smith he edited the collection Adam Smith and Modernity, 1723-2023 (Routledge, London-New York 2023).

alberto.burgio@unibo.it

Claudio D'Aurizio

Claudio D'Aurizio hold a PhD at the University of Calabria in co-supervision with the Université de Reims Champagne-Ardenne, with a thesis on the Deleuzian interpretation of Leibniz and the Baroque. At the University of Calabria, he is Honorary Fellow in Theoretical Philosophy (M-FIL/01). Member of the Italian Society of Theoretical Philosophy (SIFIT) and of the Italian Society of Aesthetics (SIE), he translated and edited the Italian edition of David Lapoujade's volume, Deleuze. I movimenti aberranti (Mimesis, Milan-Udine 2020) and the seminar by Alain Badiou, Nietzsche. L'antifilosofia (Mimesis, Milan-Udine 2022). He is the editorial secretary of «L'inconscio. Rivista Italiana di Filosofia e Psicoanalisi».

d-clode@hotmail.it

Giulia De Cesaris

Giulia De Cesaris is currently Marie Curie Fellow at the University of Turin and Senior FWO Fellow at KU Leuven. After graduating in Philosophy from Sapienza, University of Rome, she obtained a Doctorate in Classics from Durham University, followed by a Junior FWO post-doc at the De Wulf-Mansion Center for Ancient, Medieval and Renaissance Philosophy at KU Leuven University. Her research interests focus on the History of Platonism, with a specific focus on the Ancient Academy. Other areas of interest include the Platonic tradition in general, Aristotle, and Hellenistic Pythagoreanism.

giulia.decesaris@unito.it

Riccardo Ferracci

Riccardo Ferracci recently obtained his master's degree in Philosophical Sciences at the University of Bologna with a thesis entitled Irruzione, sconfinamento, frattura. Un ripensamento dello spazio a partire da Augustin Berque under the direction of professor Manlio Iofrida. He is interested in contemporary French philosophy (Merleau-Ponty, Foucault, Deleuze mainly) and places his research at the intersection between philosophy, geography and anthropology, with a particular focus at the Anthropocene debate, and the Nature-Culture relationship.

riccardo.ferracci@studio.unibo.it

Roberto Limonta

Scholar of theological and philosophical monastic traditions, Roberto Limonta is PhD student at the University of Salerno and Honorary Fellow at the University of Parma. He achieved in 2023 the National Scientific qualification as Associate Professor (History of philosophy). The topics of his research are the divine attributes of omnipotence, foreknowledge, and prophetic capacity within the Western monastic tradition, and medieval phenomena of weak rationality, like akrasia and incontinentia. Author of several publications on national and international reviews, his last work is a historical research about demonic foreknowledge (Il demone sottile. Scienza e mito dell'intelligenza diabolica, La Vita felice, Milan 2023).

roberto.limonta@unibo.it

Francesco Riccobono

Francesco Riccobono is Full Professor of Philosophy of Law at the University of Naples "Federico II". He was president of the SIFD - Italian Society of Philosophy of Law and director of the «Rivista di Filosofia del diritto» (2019-2021). He directed the magazine «Parole-chiave» – new series of «Problemi del socialismo» (2021-2023). Since 2012 he has directed, together with Andrea Bixio and Pietro Rescigno, the series "Bibliotheca - Biblioteca di studi giuridici politici e sociali" (Giappichelli, Turin). He is a member of the Scientific Committee of Enciclopedia del diritto. I Tematici (Giuffrè Francis Lefebvre, Milan) and of the Italian edition of Hans Kelsen's Opere, edited by Agostino Carrino in collaboration with the Hans Kelsen Institut (Wien) (Rubbettino, Soveria Mannelli). He dedicated his studies to the reconstruction of Hans Kelsen's thought and its Italian reception, as well as to a broader redefinition of legal concepts, investigated in their respective ideological contexts. Among his writings: Interpretazioni kelseniane (Giuffrè, Milan 1989); Soggetto Persona Diritti (Terzo Millennio Edizioni, Naples 1999); I diritti e lo Stato (Giappichelli, Turin 2004); Antikelsenismo italiano (Giappichelli, Turin 2017). francesco.riccobono@tiscali.it

Simone Giuseppe Seminara

Simone Giuseppe Seminara has got his Master's Degree in Philosophy at the University of Pisa (2009), his Ph.D. in Philosophy at the University of Rome 3 and École Normale Supérieure de Lyon (2014). He has been Postdoctoral fellow at the University of São Paulo (2015-2019) and Visiting Professor at the Federal University of São Paulo (2020). He is author of Materia senza Materialismo, a book on Aristotle's Metaphysics Book VIII (H) (Dynamis, Naples 2022) and of some papers on Aristotle's ontology. His interests mainly concern the History of Ancient Philosophy and the History of Ontology and Metaphysics. simoneseminara@hotmail.it

Mariafranca Spallanzani

Mariafranca Spallanzani is Full Professor at the University of Bologna where she teaches History of Philosophy. She taught at several universities and research centers in Europe and the United States.

She was president and vice-president of the European Society for Early Modern Philosophy (ESEMP). Scholar of the philosophy of Descartes and the philosophy of the Enlightenment, she published various essays and volumes on these topics. Among others, Diventare filosofo. Descartes "en Philosophe" (Alinea, Florence 1999); Filosofi. Figure del "Philosophe" nell'età dei Lumi, (Sellerio, Palermo 2002); L'arbre et le labyrinthe. Descartes selon l'ordre des Lumières (Éditions Champion, Paris 2009); Descartes. La règle de la raison (Vrin, Paris 2015).

mariafranca.spallanzani@unibo.it

Davide Tolomelli

Dr. Tolomelli is Doctor of Philosophical Sciences. He studied at the University of Bologna where he first obtained a bachelor's degree and then a master's degree in 2023 with a thesis in the History of Philosophy entitled Nietzsche: per una contro-filosofia della storia tra morale e società. His main research interests lie in the history of philosophy and the philosophy of history with special reference to the 18th and 19th centuries. In addition, particular attention is paid to Nietzsche's philosophy, its sources and its influences in the 20th century.

davide.tolomelli2@studio.unibo.it